【授業内容とその進め方】

The first 30 or 40 minutes of most classes will be used for extensive listening. "Extensive" just means "a lot of," so "extensive listening" means "a lot of listening." We will use movies, TV programs, songs, and other materials for extensive listening.

The rest of the class time will be used for various discussion and presentation activities. These will include: 1) learning to summarize in English the content of what students have read in Japanese, 2) presenting a summary of the biography of a famous person, and 3) discussing different controversial topics in English. Students will also complete a group project, which may either be a 20-minute video-taped group discussion in English or a 10-minute class presentation in English. As an alternative, individual students may make a 10-minute video documentary.

【授業時間外の学習（予習・復習等）】

Part of the class time will be used for learning how to summarize something in spoken English. For this purpose, students will be given reading material (in Japanese) to read before class. They will then summarize this material during class. In addition, all students must find information about a famous person and prepare a summary of his or her biography. Finally, all students must participate in a project, which may be a video-taped group discussion, a group presentation in class, or a video documentary.

【成績評価方法及び評価基準(最低達成基準を含む)】
