電気通信大学 平成16年度シラバス

【授業内容とその進め方】

The first half of the course focuses on the different ways that people communicate for different purposes in every day, real life situations. These include explaining how things are done, recounting past events, telling stories, giving opinions, and participating in casual conversations. The second half of the course focuses on discussion skills that are necessary for critical thinking in English. For example, giving an opinion, having good reasons to support your opinion, and drawing a conclusion.

Topics come from Japan and around the world, and are based on the needs and interests of the students.

The skills of listening and speaking are integrated in this course. To teach the topics and skills, sources such as music (particularly rock and pop music), movies, the radio, the internet and dialogs are used in this course. The course is taught in English.

【成績評価方法及び評価基準(最低達成基準を含む)】

The course will be assessed in the following ways:

1. Class attendance
2. Class participation
3. Homework
4. Class assignments
5. Final test

To get a grade of A, students must be excellent in all five areas.

To get a grade of Fail, students must be unsatisfactory in all five areas.
